MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT.

In the English Department, instruction in all the English branches usually taught in the higher academies.

Classes are formed each Session in English Grammar and Arithmetic. The additional Studies will be as follows:—

First Session.—Morse's Geography, Goodrich's History of the United States, Davies' Practical Geometry.

Second Session.—Guy's Astronomy, Mansfield's Political Grammar.

Third Session.—Davies' Bourdon, Olmsted's Natural Philosophy.

Classes will be formed in French and other modern languages as occasion may require.

PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

McClintock and Crooks' First Book in Latin, Nepos, Ovid, Sallust, Cicero's Orations, (the four against Cataline), Latin Prosody.

Bullion's Greek Grammar, Greek Reader, portions of the New Testament, Xenophon's Anabasis, Greek Exercises.

Leverett's Latin Lexicon or Gardner's Abridgment.

Liddell and Scott's Greek Lexicon.

Ancient History.—Taylor's Manual.

Classical Geography.—Butler's Atlas and Fiske's Classical Antiquities.

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class must be prepared to pass an examination in the books prescribed in our preparatory course; or if they come from other schools where different authors are read, in that which shall be deemed an equivalent to this course.

In all cases, satisfactory testimonials of good moral character must be given; and of students coming from another College, a certificate of regular dismission will be required.

Students will be received at any time during the Term, but it is particularly desirable that they should enter at the commencement of the session.

We prefer that those who intend to graduate at this Institution would enter the Freshman Class at least, if not our preparatory school, rather than prepare themselves elsewhere for an advanced standing. If we must bear the responsibility to give them their final credentials of scholarship, we would have the care, also, of directing their studies from the beginning.

Students who wish to take only a partial course of study will be admitted to recitation in such class as they may be qualified for; but no one will receive the degree of Bachelor of Arts unless he pass a thorough and satisfactory examination on the entire course.

CLASSIFICATION.

The studies pursued at the University are, at present, divided into the following departments:

FIRST.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES AND LITERATURE.

SECOND.

THIRD.

The number of departments will be increased as the means of the University shall permit and its interest require.

EXAMINATIONS.

There will be an examination before the Faculty at the close of the First Session, and a public examination at the close of the year, in all the studies pursued during the year. The examination will be rigid and impartial, and in no case will a student be suffered to advance to a higher class, unless it is clearly evident, to the Faculty and Examining Committee, that, by diligent and successful application, he shall have entitled himself to such promotion.

TERMS AND VACATIONS.

The Collegiate Year is divided into three sessions and two vacations.

The First Session commences six weeks after the first Wednesday in August, and continues until Christmas.

The Second Session commences on the second of January, and continues until the first Wednesday in April.

The Third Session commences four weeks after the close of the Second Session, and continues until the first Wednesday in August.

PUBLIC EXERCISES.

COMMENCEMENT.—On the first Wednesday of August.

EXHIBITION OF THE UNDER-GRADUATES.—At the end of the Second Session.

EXPENSES AND PAYMENTS.

Tuition in the Collegiate Department, per year,	$30·00
Tuition for half College recitations,	25·00
Tuition in the Preparatory Department,	20·00
Room rent, $1·50 per Session,	4·50
Incidental expenses, 50 cts.,	1·50

The University Charges are payable by the session, in advance.

Boarding in private families at from $1·25 to $1·50 per week.

Many of the students board themselves at from 30 to 50 cents a week.

Parents and guardians are earnestly advised that young men at college have very little need of pocket money; and in all cases it is safer that their funds be entrusted to one of the Professors, whose discretion may regulate their expenditures.

Books.—The regular text books can be had in the place.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

On Sabbath morning all the students are required to attend public worship in town, at such Church as the Faculty understand to be preferred by the parents or guardian. In the afternoon, they attend at the College Chapel, for the usual religious exercises, with a sermon or a lecture on some portion of the scripture. The younger members are also required to attend Sabbath school, or Bible Class, at nine o'clock in the morning. On the other days of the week, religious services—reading the Scriptures and Prayer—are held in the College Chapel, morning and evening.

GOVERNMENT.

The government of the institution will be, as far as practicable, parental, and will seek to secure attention to study and correctness of deportment, not so much by the enforcement of rigid enactments, as by cultivating in the student a taste for intellectual pursuits and virtuous habits. But if, in any case, reasonable efforts used shall fail to accomplish this, the Faculty will deem that they have discharged their duty toward such a young man; he cannot be suffered to remain, either to spend his own time in idleness or to corrupt the good manners of students.

A daily account is kept of each student, in such way as to afford a full exhibit of his habits in regard to regularity and punctuality in his duties, as well as the merit and demerit of his recitations in his several studies. This exhibit will be read publicly at the close of the term, and a copy will be sent to the parents or guardian of each student.

LIBRARY AND SOCIETIES.

The Library consists, in a larger proportion than is usual for public libraries, of the more important and valuable kind of books — such as are both safe and desirable to be read — including a number of the larger works of reference, in the various departments of Science. It already numbers about 1300 volumes; and respectable donations continue to be received every few weeks.

Two Literary Societies are organized, and are laying the foundation for their respective Libraries.

APPARATUS.

A new and extensive Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus, fully equal to any in the West, has been purchased, and will be ready for use at the opening of the next Session.
